

vinonotebook – Regan Drew

A place for thoughts and words on wine and the world...

“Good value and perfect summer drinking: the @bertonvineyards Fiano 2017”

Berton Vineyards Winemaker’s Reserve Fiano 2017

December 24, 2017 · by vinonotebook · in Tasting Notes.

This little number picked up a bronze at the Australian Alternative Wine Show this year.
Good to be recognised.

An attractive, dull gold colour this gives plenty of perfume on the nose with honeysuckle, passionfruit and grapefruit citrus. Gives a little grip on the palate as it dances through the soft tropical fruit lines. Zippy acidity and decent length of flavour.
A solid, good value introduction to the style for new comers.

RRP: $14

Alc: 12%

Rating: 17/20

Wine sample courtesy of Berton Vineyards

<https://vinonotebook.com/2017/12/24/berton-vineyards-winemakers-reserve-fiano-2017/>

Available online at <http://www.bertonvineyards.com.au/product/Winemakers-Reserve-Fiano?pageID=01B42EDE-BE2D-4470-58AC-0927045C4C31&sortBy=DisplayOrder&maxRows=10&>